Chest X-Ray Unit in Lemon Grove Tomorrow and Saturday

Much Interest in X-Ray Visit to Community

The Mass Chest X-Ray Unit will be in Lemon Grove tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday.

This will give everybody in the Lemon Grove area an opportunity to learn whether they are potentially tubercular or not.

The unit will be stationed at the Lindley Drug Store, corner Broadway and Main, and the hours on Friday will be from 12 noon till 8 o'clock in the evening, and on Saturday from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock that afternoon.

Rev. J. Morris Mulkey is general chairman of the Lemon Grove X-Ray Unit visit, assisted by many leaders of the community, acting in various capacities to make the Chest X-Ray here a success.

It takes only one minute to complete the Chest X-Ray as far as the individual is concerned. There is no undressing. The person just walks up to the machine takes a deep breath, holds it and the plate is made. In a couple of weeks a written report will be mailed to each person X-rayed.

In some cases persons are asked to go to headquarters for a larger picture. This does not mean that the first picture showed some disease, but rather that further study is needed.

The goal for the San Diego metropolitan area is 300,000 chests X-rayed by January 31, and Hance H. Cleveland, president of the non-profit corporation which is in charge of the health program, anticipates that the goal will be reached.

The local committee has worked hard to put the Lemon Grove visit of the unit over. It is for your benefit, and deserves your support.

Remember, the X-Ray procedure will involve no embarrassment, and all findings and reports are kept in strict confidence.

Guild Gets Action on Cross Walks

Through the persistent efforts of a committee from the Parents Guild of the St. John of the Cross school, cross walks and stop signs have been installed on Imperial boulevard at Washington street.

Many of the parochial school children have to cross Imperial at this point and the Guild is to be commended for its part in making the place safer for the children as well as adults.

An effort has been made to have crosswalks and signs placed on Broadway at Washington but the Commission still takes the attitude that there are not enough children crossing Broadway. However, those concerned will not waiver in their efforts until the project is completed.

RETURNS FROM EAST

Mrs. Marce Ellison returned Wednesday from a four weeks' trip to Cincinnati, Ohio, where she visited her mother and brother and many friends.

BARN DANCE SATURDAY

The Pilgrim Fellowship Association will hold a barn dance in Friendship Hall Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

IT'S A GIRL

Lt. and Mrs. E. T. Zimmermann, 1500 Skyline drive, have a new baby girl born Tuesday, in Naval Hospital.

Chest X-Ray Essay Contest

An Essay Contest on the subject "Why the Mass Chest X-Ray?" is being held in the Lemon Grove and Monterey Heights Schools. Inasmuch as Vista La Mesa is participating in the La Mesa X-Ray program they decided against entering the local contest.

The purpose of this contest is to arouse interest among children and their parents regarding the forthcoming X-Ray examinations to be held in Lemon Grove on Friday and Saturday. There will be a prize for the best and second best papers written in grades 4, 5 and 6 in the Monterey Heights School. These prizes have been set up by the Monterey Heights Civic Club. A similar contest for grades 4, 5 and 6 in the Lemon Grove School will have prizes awarded by the Lions Club. The prizes in grades 7 and 8 are being awarded by the Kiwanis Club.

The papers are not to be more than 250 words in length and must be original in their composition. The preliminary judging will be done by the teachers in the respective schools and the final awards will be judged by the sponsoring service organizations. Winning essays will be published in the Review during the week of January 16.

Szymon Goldberg is Concert Soloist

Szymon Goldberg, great Polish violinist, will be the next artist presented by Grossmont Community Concert Association on Monday evening, January 23, at 8:15 p.m. in Grossmont High School auditorium.

The artist brings to American life a fascinating legend that has been molded by tragedy and by adventure. From appearances as a child prodigy to Jap war imprisonment, Goldberg recently earned praises after Carnegie Hall concert. Olin Downes in New York Times described him as "a musician and virtuoso of the first rank."

Admittance is by membership card but members are reminded that house guests may attend by making reservations with Mrs. James Henderson, H 47784.

New Assistant at St. John of Cross

A welcome is extended to the Rev. Fr. Paul Zemanik, the new assistant pastor at St. John of the Cross Catholic Church.

Rev. Fr. Patrick Reilly has been given the charge as assistant at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Coronado. While serving here he made many friends who will wish him Godspeed and joy in his new location.

NEW CHOIR ORGANIZED

The Junior Choir of the Congregational Church, under the direction of Mrs. Wally Tomire and Mrs. Harold Hensley, has over 30 voices now but still open for others this next week but then will be closed with names put on a waiting list. An Intermediate Choir is being organized and will consist of seventh, eighth and ninth graders. The Junior Choir will rehearse on Wednesdays from 3:30 until 4:30 at which time the Intermediates will rehearse. The combined choir will sing "O Precious Savior" for both services on January 29. They will start work on special music for Easter Sunday.

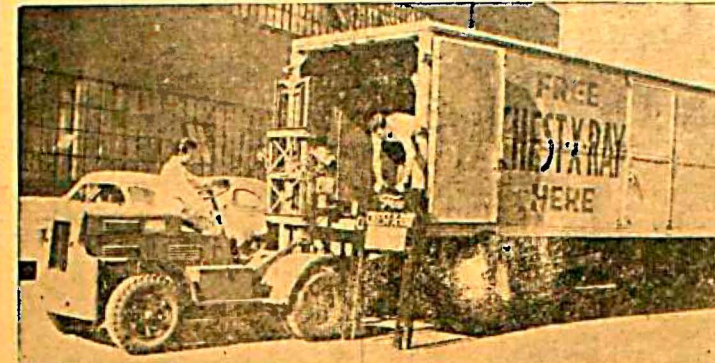

AT BOARD MEETING

The Rev. J. Morris Mulkey, pastor of First Baptist Church, will attend a meeting of the California State Southern Baptist Association at Fresno on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

FREE MOVIE PASSES

Read the want ads in the Review. If you find your name there come to the Review office, 7812 Broadway, and you will be given two free passes to the Grove Theatre.

The San Diego Cat Fanciers Association is holding the annual show Saturday in Balboa Park. There is a nominal admission.

Two Bands Will Give Concerts

The visit of the Chest X-Ray to Lemon Grove this week is the occasion for two band concerts which will take place Friday evening and Saturday afternoon. Friday evening at 6:30 the Lemon Grove School Band, under the direction of Paul Cheatham, will march from the school north on Imperial to North street and then march south to the Lindley drug store corner, where the Chest X-Ray Unit will be stationed, and forming in the parking lot, will give a concert. The Grossmont High School Band will be here for a concert at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the same location.

It is a special honor to Lemon Grove that the Grossmont band will appear here, and in order to express our appreciation it is urged that everyone plan to attend this band concert, and at the same time take advantage of having a free chest X-Ray.

Mt. Helix PTA Meets at School Service Center

Mt. Helix Council, P.T.A., will meet on Wednesday of next week in San Diego County Schools Service Center, Rosecrans and Pacific Highway. All persons interested are urged to take advantage of the opportunity to visit the education facility by making reservations with the local P.T.A. president.

Mrs. Byron Netzel of Lemon Grove, president, will call the session to order at 9:45 a.m. Annual election of council nominating committee and 9th District nominating committee representative will be the main order of business. Mrs. O. E. Tyler, district parliamentarian will be present to assist.

A tour of the building will be conducted at 11 with hostesses units and presidents in charge: La Mesa Intermediate, Mrs. L. E. Burner; La Mesa Dale, Mrs. Glen Crosbie; Rolando, Mrs. Richard Sutton; and Lemon avenue, Mrs. John Wurzbarger.

VISTA LA MESA CHURCH HAS ANNIVERSARY

The Church observed its second anniversary last Sunday January 8, with Ralph Sherman of East San Diego Christian bringing greetings from the San Diego Christian Church Association and congratulations on their rise from a few charter members to nearly 200 members and church school attendance averaging about 225. Bob Bennett brought the message at the evening service that same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haaf were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Issett at a program given by Mildred Dilling, noted harpist in New York, at the Woman's Club in La Jolla Friday evening.

Membership in Boy Scouts at All-Time High

Membership in the Boy Scouts of America within San Diego County has soared to an all-time high of 8172 boys, according to the final 1949 figures on enrollment released today by the San Diego Area Council.

Earle Moore, Scout Executive of the local Council, said that "The great increase in the number of boys enrolling in the Scout program is indicative of a growing interest in Scouting all over the country. If the present interest is maintained, San Diego Area Council should be boasting a 10,000 Scout membership before 1951."

Two main factors were pointed up by Moore as the reasons behind the rapid growth of the local Council, which is now fourth in size in Region XII behind Los Angeles, Salt Lake City and Pasadena.

"The lowering of the age minimums for membership in September created a new eagerness by boys and their parents for Scout participation," Moore said, "and publicity already given to the forthcoming National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. has also given impetus to the Scout movement."

Cub Scouts—boys eight, nine, and 10 years of age, now total 4527 in San Diego Area Council. There are 2285 Boy Scouts—11 through 13 years—and 1360 Explorers, the senior program for Scouts 14 and over.

Total membership at the start of 1949 was 6412. Present membership represents a gain of 1760 Scouts in the past 12 months.

It's Fun to Live in America

The last Monday meeting of the Kiwanis Club was an inter-club meeting with North Park Kiwanians putting on the program and taking charge of the meeting, following a fine luncheon at the Rancho Mission auditorium on Washington street.

President Scott of the North Park club presided during the program and presented Kiwanian Turner who showed motion pictures of a film called "It's Fun to Live in America." The picture depicted the American way of life, free enterprise and the progress this country has made in the way of more comfortable living for the American family.

The club will meet every Monday noon at the Rancho Mission auditorium.

These students, members of the Junior Patrol, will be the guests of John van Gilse at the Grove Theatre Saturday: Ralph Keenburgh, John Peoples, Robert Williams, David Arnold, Darrel Lee, Lee Nevis, Stephen Batchelder, Gene Sowers, Joe Dickson, Tommy Shafer, John Carroll and Grady Redding.

NEW DATE FOR MEETINGS

The Holy Name Society of St. John of the Cross Catholic Church will hold the monthly business meetings and social hour at 7:30 o'clock on the Wednesday evening preceding the first Friday of each month. The next meeting will be on February 1.

Preview of S. D. Co. Zoning Plan

The San Diego County Planning Department has issued a report titled "Master Plan—Preview" prepared by Dr. Willis H. Miller, Chief of the Planning Division.

This report is the first of a series to be published by the Department as part of its new program to develop a Master Plan for San Diego County. Highlights of the report are:

1. We need to know what we want before we can hope to get it. The Master Plan is an official statement of what we want.

2. As defined by State law, our Master Plan is a comprehensive, long-term, general plan for the physical development of San Diego County.

3. A Master Plan includes the following elements: land use plan, streets and highways plans, conservation plan, public buildings plan, recreation plan, transportation plan, public services and facilities plan, transit plan, and housing plan.

4. The Master Plan is the foundation of our entire County planning program. It is the basis for Precise Plans to do definite things in specified places. It is a frame of reference against which the desirability of any proposed project can be evaluated.

5. Every year millions of dollars of public funds are spent for the physical developments of San Diego County. Every year private individuals and agencies improve land and otherwise increase our resources of production and service. A sound Master Plan can help assure that these actions are co-ordinated and conducted with efficiency and economy.

6. Preparation of the Master Plan is a function of the staff of the County Planning Department with co-operation from other County departments, appropriate Federal and State agencies, City planning commissions, and citizen groups.

7. Adoption of the Master Plan is a function of the County Planning Commission.

As an initial program, the commission has directed work on a County-wide Master Plan for major highways, and on an integrated Community Master Plan for San Ysidro. It is expected that both will be completed during 1950.

Business Women Meet at Luncheon

The Business Women's League met at luncheon in Friendship Hall last Thursday with Mrs. F. Snyder presiding at the business meeting.

The welfare chairman reported that the group furnished 100 pounds of ham for the Lions' Christmas baskets.

Mrs. Al Huebsch was honored on her birthday anniversary and presented a miniature birthday cake and a card autographed by each member present.

New members received were Mrs. Lem Clark, Mrs. George Lenox and Mrs. Ted Mengano.

FORWARD CLUB JUNIORS

The Forward Club Juniors met Tuesday evening in the club house with Mrs. David Hentgen conducting a short business meeting. Mrs. William Kellison, program chairman, introduced Mr. and Mrs. C. J. White of La Mesa, who showed some beautiful colored slides and told about the most interesting points of their European tour last year. Mrs. Leon Myer and Mrs. Edward Miller were hostesses.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual congregational meeting of the Lemon Grove Lutheran Church will be held Sunday evening following a pot luck dinner at six o'clock at the Forward Clubhouse. All members of the congregation are urged to be present.

THANK YOU

As chairman of the Lion's Toy drive, John Hill wishes to thank those who donated toys for the Christmas baskets. Appreciation is also given the Business Women's League for the ham donated.

First Year Fire District Budget Set at $15,000

The commissioners of the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District met Tuesday evening and agreed on the first year's budget for the establishment and maintenance of the district, to be presented to the voters on Tuesday, January 31.

The commissioners are Al Anderson, Virgil Dues and Chandler Mason. Mr. Mason is chairman.

Under capital outlay of $7,000 included is $1,000 for land, down payment of $3,000 toward the construction of a station, total cost of which will not exceed $12,000; down payment of $3,000 on a fire truck, which will total about $14,000.

Maintenance cost for the year $6,820. This includes salaries for two full time paid men and three part time employees.

Figuring a reserve fund of $1,180, the total budget will amount to $15,000.

Because of the newness of the formation of this district and the fact that the Board of Supervisors has had to make minor changes in the boundaries of the new district, it will be impossible for the county assessor's office to give an exact total of assessed valuation of the district at this time.

But by using the very conservative figure of $4,000,000 total assessed valuation the district will need a tax rate of not to exceed 38c per $100 assessed valuation. Mr. Mason stated yesterday.

The very finest type of fire truck is being considered, a 500 gallon pump type, equipped with all the modern fire fighting appliances, including for nozzles which can smother a stubborn fire which is confined in a building within a few minutes. The truck will not depend on the water pressure, in the mains, the pump taking care of the pressure, and using water from any open well or ditch if such may be available.

Five hundred gallons is considered ample water if the truck reaches the scene within a very short time after the discovery of the fire.

Mr. Anderson is particularly fitted to supervise the purchase of fire fighting equipment because of his familiarity with this type of apparatus.

The truck and station will conform to the minimum specification of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, in order to hasten the day when property owners in the district can receive a sizeable reduction in their insurance rate, Mr. Mason stated.

Notices of the election and polling places will be posted next week.

New Gas Line Coming Through

The new gas line for the San Diego Gas and Electric Company is just now coming over the hill north of Lemon Grove and running south on Olive street to hook up with the company's San Diego distributing system.

The new line connects with the Texas line near Riverside and will increase the capacity of the local company enough to meet any emergency of cold weather, thus avoiding the necessity of curtailment as was the case last year during the cold snap.

BAPTIST WORKERS TO MEET

The San Diego County Association of Southern Baptist Churches will hold a conference at Linda Vista next Thursday evening at 7:30. Rev. Sibley Burnett of the Southern Baptist National Headquarters of Nashville, Tenn., will be the speaker and lead the discussion on Sunday School and Vacation Bible School work.

DINNER DANCE

The local Lions Club announces that on "Ladies Night" the club will have a dinner dance in Friendship Hall on Thursday, February 9, to be served at 7 o'clock. The affair will be open to the public but tickets must be purchased in advance from a club member.

SOCIALISM IS NEAR

The country is next door to Socialism, and businessmen themselves, instead of alerting the American people to the danger, have lulled them into complacency.

This thesis was advanced last week by W. C. Mullendore, president of the Southern California Edison Co. and former Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce president.

Mullendore said: "We will have arrived at a Socialist state when government controls over banking, money, foreign and domestic trade and basic industry are so extensive that government decisions of free men made in the market place are the determining factor."

"We will have Socialism regardless of absolute state ownership of basic industries as soon as government is the dominant controlling factor in the economy. Certainly, if we are not there, we are next door to it."

"The Federal government has gone into every line of business as a competitor or a subsidizer.
It is not only the biggest employer, the biggest spender, the biggest customer, but it is also the provider of more housing, food, reading material, radio propaganda and entertainment and so on ad infinitum, than any other agency, public or private.
With all this transfer of power from the people to the government has gone the power of initiative over the people's affairs in general."

"When the business spokesman says that business is good and the outlook for business is good he is saying to the average listeners, whether he means to do so or not, that conditions are good, that jobs are secure, that he can see nothing on the business horizon that seriously threatens the security and happiness of the American people."

"Thus, business leaders and their spokesmen, by their own public statements, are too often responsible for lulling the public into a false sense of security and for nullifying the warnings of those who are endeavoring to arouse the people to the dangers of an advancing Socialism."

When the Parents Guild of the St. John of the Cross School called on the State Highway Department in regard to a cross walk on Broadway at Washington just south of the school, they were told that not enough children crossed at this point to warrant a crosswalk. How in the name of common sense can the State Highway Department or any other group expect the people to avoid accidents when they themselves will not do so simple a thing as marking a few feet of point on a highway. If they would do that, the motorists and pedestrians will do their best to prevent accidents at that particular location. What difference does it make whether only one child uses that particular crossing, or a dozen or even a hundred. Isn't one life worth saving? For shame on the department.

Where do radio announcers get it? We hear funny things over the radio, particularly when it comes to place names.
Only this week a San Diego station blared forth about Temmycoola. Not long ago crime play over NBC played up Tee-ha-chappie. The "J" in California place names is always getting mispronounced by eastern broadcasters. But the residents of Temecula and Tehachapi were really burned up.

Sparks

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORAIS

According to rumors from the Nation's capital, some of the Administration's bright young men have got hold of a wonderful new idea.

Rather reluctantly, the Washington planners have begun to realize that the public has become budget-conscious—a not surprising state of affairs when it is considered that Californians, for example, pay an average of $475 per year for State and Federal government; $100 for State costs and $375 for Federal costs.

It's the prospect of a budget deficit of some five and one-half billion dollars, however, that has aroused public interest in the cost of Big Government. There are, of course, two obvious ways to eliminate the deficit: increase taxes or reduce expenditures. But the bright young men have thought of a third way—not nearly so obvious, but much more clever: simply change the bookkeeping system so that the deficit disappears!

At present, the national budget operates much like an individual's. Each year's anticipated receipts and expenditures are reported and an attempt is made to make them balance. But, argue the planners, such a simple system is old-fashioned. No business would operate that way.

No business would, of course.
If a business makes a capital outlay for a new plant, it charges only a small portion of the outlay as a current year's expenditure.
If it loans money, it sets up the amount of the loan as an asset.

The Federal Government, the planners contend, should do the same. If fifty million dollars are appropriated for a new dam across the South Fork of Little Squirrel Creek, only one-twentieth of that budget should be charged against each year's budget. If the Commodity Credit Corporation spends two million dollars to support the price of dried jelly beans, its investment should be considered an asset.
If the Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans twenty-five million dollars to the Octagon Plastic Homes Company, the loan should be set up in a separate account.

If this system were adopted, presto!—the deficit would vanish and a budget surplus would take its place, making new sums available for new Government adventures. It's true that under the proposed system, repayments to the Government on its various investments couldn't be counted as receipts—as that would mitigate against the accumulation of an apparent surplus. But that difficulty would be overcome as long as the Government expanded its operations—an objective that planners have firmly in mind.

Whether or not the bright young men succeed in selling their new "business budget" remains to be seen. It would be an easy way out. And it would certainly be more businesslike.
But until fairly recently, no one considered the Government a business. Until fairly recently, the Government like an individual, was supposed to live within its income.

Political Parade

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

Giving every indication of having one eye on the coming campaigns and the job of getting re-elected and the other matters at hand, America's lawmakers have returned to Washington, listened to the President's State of the Union message and rolled into action for the second session of the 81st Congress.

It was in a similar mood, obviously, that President Truman tendered his program for the year to the solons.

In fact, as the Legislative mill begins to grind, most political analysts are inclined to believe that the President would be the most surprised, and probably chagrined, man in the United States if Congress proceeded to adopt his proposals verbatim. It seems that there is a suspicion in Washington that Mr. Truman would rather have Congress refuse most of his program so that he can use it for campaign advertisement again.

In his State of the Union message, the President once more called for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Farm Plan, increased taxes, a civil rights program, more public housing, more social security, additional government power projects, compulsory government health insurance, federal aid to education, and economic

Talks and Walks With Mother Nature

BY TRIXIE TREGANZA

WESTERN WILLET

How many times these last two months while you were romping in the breaker or drying yourself in a pile of sand by the beach have your meditations been interrupted by a loud pily-willy, willet-willet-willet as an inconspicuous, drab-colored little wader jumped into the air and startled you by its quick metamorphosis into a huge, gorgeous black and white butterfly. At least so it seemed. But friend Willet was only showing the under side of his wings. The average vacationer admired the beauty of the bird or was thrilled by its wild, wanton call and returned to his musings. But to the bird-lover who has more than a speaking acquaintance with his feathered friends, who knows where and how they live, he would say: Ah ha! Mr. Willet, what are you doing way down here on San Diego's sunny seashore? Your home is to the northward and westward—even to the far Atlantic Coast, but it is your Eastern brother, Well, I will tell you. All the Willet carfree little groups of Willet tourists that you see playing and running up and down the beach busily picking up delectable marine tidbits washed in by the waves are just this year's children with perhaps a few nonbreeding grown-ups. There was nothing to do around the old home place and they wanted to try their wings. Besides the chill autumn days would soon be here and the old wanderlust, that migrating virus would take possession of them. Some unde-finable urge would send them to the sunny southlands, so this is just the advance guard of wayward impatient ones.

But let us fly across the mountains to the long stretches of alkali flat and desert waste where runways of brackish water bordered by wiry, sprangling marsh grass wind their irregular way across the barren moor. This is home of the Western Willet, the longbilled Curlew, Avocet, Stilt Kildeer, Snowy Plover, Desert Horned lark and many others—a veritable bird paradise. The nursery I should say, where bird homes and feathered families mingle in harmony together; where eager, anxious parents must face the daily grind of rustling enough food to feed their precious little ones.

This is the last of April and we are rambling around the endless reaches of the Bear River Barrens bordering the Great Salt Lake. We are greeted by a maddening noisy, riotous melody of bird calls. The marriage market is in full swing. Each young Beau Brummel, even the cavaliers of many summers are displaying their beauty of form and voice, their exquisite color and clothes to the coy maidens who will have them for better or for worse. And Mr. Willet is the noisiest of them all as he chases his lady through the air or parades before her with wings outstretched high over his back so she may admire the beautiful butterfly lining his somber jacket that he is displaying for her approval.

Now it is the first week in May and the bedlam has subsided except for the warning calls of the males as he tells his brooding mate to "lie low." But even so we must pay our respects to Mrs.
Willet, if we can find her. The mottled drab of her feathers looks like sunlight and shadow at play on the brown marsh grass. Her bright perfect protective coloration is betrayed only by a bright, beady winking eye. Cautiously you approach step by step, still more cautiously, almost stealthily you stoop down to caress her.
That wonderful mother instinct makes her snuggle more secure. ly over the treasures beneath her. You stroke her gently several times, while the picture is being taken, but she can stand no more of it. She flutters along the ground feigning lameness, then with a wild scream she leaps into the air where she is joined by her scolding, anxious mate. We would not harm you Mrs. Willet. We only came to make a call, and to see the four top-shaped eggs all pointed centerward nestling in a slight depression cupped in the marsh grass. They are eggs of buffybrown or olive-buff, boldly and irregularly marked with spots and blotches of black and brown and lilac.

But birds display individuality just the same as people.
They have their likes and dislikes, their whims and fancies.
Mrs. Thomas Willet doesn't like a grassy home, besides she doesn't want neighbors. So she has chosen a home way out on the mud flat where the hoof print of a cow, when the ground was soft and oozy, left a most inviting bowl just large enough to make a comfortable home for four more Willet babies. Mrs. Charles Willet is socially inclined and very often will share her home with a long-billed Curlew, in fact Curlews and Willets seem to have quite an affinity for each other. Then Mrs. Curlew will return the compliment and lay an egg or two in a Willet's nest.

In two weeks we return and again pandemonium reigns—the air is filled with screaming, frantic parents. Little ones are just peeping out of their shells, some already out and drying their wet feathers in the warm sunshine. Still others up and running about and desperate mothers yelling to them to "freeze" to the ground. Pretty little things, children of nature so deftly colored that it would take a sharp human eye to detect them lying flat against a clod of earth or a dry, bleached stick.

Late July and August the birds are getting restless, gathering in to flocks, banding together. A few have already answered the call, but the chill days of September finds them tourists at Southern watering places from San Diego's shore to South America.

Connie Comes Back A SHORT-SHORT STORY

By MAUD McCURDY WELCH

SAYING goodbye to Bill was always like this. Connie would meet his unhappy, dark eyes and she'd almost weaken. She'd almost do as she had done once before when she'd started on a vacation. She'd looked at Bill and the wistful sort of lost expression in his eyes and she'd said, "Come on, Bill, let's go home. I give up." It had been a ridiculous thing to do, but Bill laughed, given her a hug and started putting her bags back into the car. Then they were leaving the station. Bill sitting

She said tenderly, "I'll be only a short while before I'm back and you'll get along fine."

straight at the wheel, but just simply grinning all over his good-looking dark face.

When you've been married only two years, it's hard to say goodbye, even when one of you is just going off for a little vacation.

But kind, motherly Mrs. Barton, their next-door neighbor, was always saying that young couples need a little vacation from each other every so often. A woman's job of being home-maker and wife sometimes causes her to get a little stale. A woman could get just simply smothered in domesticity, Mrs. Barton said, and Connie thought that was quite true.

Bill said once, "Why do you listen to Mrs. Barton? She means well, but she doesn't understand about us... about how hard it is for us to be separated even for a day."

But Connie's mind was made up this time. She wasn't going to let herself be persuaded to go back home this time when she'd started to California to visit Mabel Watts and have a wonderful six weeks' vacation. She said tenderly, "I'll be only a short while before I'm back and you'll get along fine."

Bill hugged her arm close against his as they waited for the train.
"California is such a long way off, honey," he said. "And you're mighty little to go so far away all by yourself. You'll be sure to lose your ticket and your luggage and no telling what else will happen to you." Bill always said this, and what he really meant was this: "You just came back with your husband. You know you don't really want to go away and leave me all alone."

Connie met his eyes with a quivering little smile, but her voice was firm.
"I won't be gone any time at all.
Just six weeks, and I'll come back feeling fine and rested and everything... everything will be wonderful just as it's always been." She becked off and said "Here comes the train."

Then Connie had been kind, the train was moving and Bill's stalwart figure had slid out of sight.

The third day after she reached Los Angeles, there was an air-mail letter from Bill. She smiled when she opened it, thinking that Bill always said the same thing in his letters.
This one was no different. He wrote in that vigorous scrawl of his: "Dearest, hurry up and get your vacation over. I'm so lonesome I stay at the office until time to go to bed at night. Tommy Longtail misses you a lot too. Every night he meows around the house asking me where you are. I hope you'll soon be coming back. A world of love and kisses, Your Bill."

Everyday after that Connie had a letter from Bill so much like the first one that she always smiled happily and contentedly to herself. Sometimes she thought, with a tender little giggle, that Bill just might have sent a carbon copy of the first one.

She and Mabel had a good time going about in Mabel's car and Connie was having lots of fun, although Mabel teased her about it.

Then one day she had a letter from Bill that was different, so different

last week, leaving Saturday to return to his ship in San Francisco. Mrs. Davis had as visitors last week, two aunts, Mrs.
Francis Lappin and Mrs. Francis Bartlett, her mother Mrs. Francis White and brother Don White, from Springfield Ill. They were here a week, and enjoyed seeing a few points of interest in Los Angeles and San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester McIntosh were hosts to the Vista La Mesa church choir on Saturday evening, January 7, when each was asked to bring any musical instrument he had ever played.
With Solo-vox accompaniment, everyone had a lot of fun scrap-pling long unused violins, and playing a variety of instruments ranging from accordions to ukeleles to trombones. It was quite a surprise when Bob Bennett turned on a wired recorder and played back some of the numbers they had struggled through.

Campbell New Phone Manager

Appointment of Sidney S.
Campbell as new telephone manager of the La Mesa, El Cajon, Ramona, Julian, Mesa Grande and Warner Springs exchanges effective January 5 was announced today by R. J. Kliegel, district manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. Campbell will make his headquarters in the La Mesa telephone office at 8270 Lemon avenue.

The new manager replaces Cecil L. Adams, who has been named manager of the National City, Coronado, Chula Vista and San Ysidro exchanges that were formerly under his supervision.

Campbell has been on special assignments in the San Diego county district of Pacific Telephone. A veteran of more than 20 years' telephone experience, he started his career as an advertising salesman in Los Angeles. Since that time, he has progressed in various supervisory and managerial positions.
He is a graduate of Bradley University, Peoria, Illinois.

A member of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, formerly Cubmaster in Scouting activity, and past chairman of the La Mesa City Recreation Committee, Campbell has resided in La Mesa since 1943. He is married and has three sons. The eldest, Jack, 15, is president of the sophomore class at Grossmont Union High School. Mrs. Campbell is president of the La Mesa Evening Women's Club.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

DECIDUOUS PRUNING DEMONSTRATIONS

Pruning deciduous trees will be demonstrated by Bernard J.
Hall, of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service, at the following ranches: Saturday, January 14: Mark Waite Ranch, 1 1/2 miles north of Broadway, Escondido, 10 a.m.
Saturday, January 21: Ellis Crane Ranch, 8 miles east of El Cajon on Highway 80, 10 a.m.
Monday, January 23: Earl Michael's Ranch on Magnolia, Lakeside, 2 p.m.

Proper methods of pruning peaches, apricots, plums and figs will be demonstrated and discussed. Winter spray programs for deciduous trees will be presented.

FEED FOR CHICKENS BULLETIN AVAILABLE

The new bulletin on feeds for chickens is now available at your County Farm Advisor's Office.
Robert H. Adolph, of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service points out that this bulletin tells what is the best and most practical way to provide a balanced diet for chickens. Feed costs amount to more than half the total costs of poultry production. This fact obliges the poultrymen to give careful consideration to the problems of poultry feeding.
Whether the poultryman is feeding a commercial feed mix or home mix he should study this new bulletin.

"Feeds for chickens" gives the fastest facts about (1) nutrients; functions, deficiency, symptoms, and recommended allowances;
(2) feedstuffs as sources of nutrients and (3) basic formulae for efficient production.

This bulletin may be obtained by writing or calling the Farm Advisor's Office, Room 404, U.
S. Customs Building, San Diego, California.

MORE HEAT REQUIRED FOR BABY CHICKS IN WINTER

Plenty of heat is needed for brooding chicks during winter weather. Robert H. Adolph, Farm Advisor of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service cautioned poultrymen that chicks brooded during cold weather need extra heat.
Brooding boxes should be well insulated. Baby chicks will do best when they can run the brooder to get warm quickly. Daytime temperatures should be maintained high enough to force chicks outside to eat and drink and when chicks get cool they can run in under the brooder to get warm quickly.

Adolph points out that poultrymen experience more difficulties from improper brooding during winter months than at any other time of year. Watch chicks closely. If the chicks are not getting enough heat they will huddle and crowd. A properly placed thermometer may be used to advantage but Adolph cautions that the actions of the chicks themselves should be the best guide.

Further information on brooding chicks may be obtained by writing or calling the Farm Ad-visor's Office, 404 U. S. Customs Building, San Diego, California.

CELERY FERTILIZER TESTS

Celery fertilizer plots where nitrogen is compared with complete fertilizers will be visited at the following Agricultural Extension Service meetings, according to Farm Advisor Bernard J.
Hall.

Monday, January 16—11:00 a.m., W. W. Miller Ranch, Highway 395 and Mission Valley Road.
1:30 p.m., John Wanders Ranch, 692 K street, Chula Vista.

2:30 p.m., Jaekel and Rogers Ranch, Harborside drive and Highway 101, Chula Vista.
The fifth year of continuous application of nitrogen, nitrogen-phosphorus, and complete fertilizer of celery plots at Jaekel and Rogers may be seen in the mature stage. Celery pink rot control methods will also be discussed.

FROST DAMAGED TREES

Due to damaging freezing temperatures the past several winters, only the new growers need to be informed of recommended action in treating frost damaged trees. In general, Farm Advisor Joe Coony says that the safest policy is to postpone any treatment for many weeks or even months. While injury to foliage and young growths shows in a few days, the real extent of the damage to twigs and branches does not show clearly for many weeks.

Pruning should not be done for six months to a year after occurrences of damage. New growth will define the extent of the damage. Where foliage and small twigs only are injured, such trees actually require no special treatment other than to prunarily given the grove, adds Coony.

Whitewashing may become desirable only when defoliation exposes trunks and large limbs to possible sunburn. This practice of whitewashing seems more widely used than the damage and experience indicates is advisable.

GROSSMONT AVOCADO

Orchard fertilizer problems will be discussed by Farm Advisor, Joe Coony, at a meeting to be held in the music room of Grossmont High School, Monday evening, January 16, at 7:30 p.m.
Questions of what, when, and how much fertilizer to apply will be covered along with a discussion of soil analyses. All growers are invited to attend this Agricultural Extension Service meeting.

RID ALFALFA OF WEEDS NOW

Winter annual and perennial weeds thrive while alfalfa is dormant. Farm Advisor F. A.
Dorman, of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service, says this is the time to think about getting rid of them.

Annual bluegrass, ryegrass, chickweed, radish and oats are common winter weeds. Allowed to grow unchecked, they can easily reduce the value of the first cutting of alfalfa.

Dorman suggests a general contact spray made up of one quart Dow or Sinox General, 35 gallons of diesel oil and 80 gallons of water per acre to control these weeds. Use enough of the spray material to wet all the plants thoroughly.

Timing is important. The weeds should be young and small, but if the spraying is done too early, more rains later on will bring another crop of weeds.
If the spraying is done too late, the weeds will be stronger and harder to kill.

Bank Resources Show Increase

Total resources of the First National Trust and Savings Bank of San Diego amounted to $102-398,789 at the close of business on December 31, F. J. Belcher Jr., president and chairman of the board, announced yesterday.

A net addition of $344,068 to the bank's capital funds, for a year end total of $5,637,655 an increase in loans and satisfactory earnings for the 12-month period were among the favorable developments during 1949, Belcher said.

Loans amounted to $21,000,357 on December 31 compared with $20,181,082 for the corresponding date of last year. "This reflects the continued high level of general business activity and the sustained growth of the San Diego area," Belcher said.

The bank's net income, after provision for income taxes amounting to $176,500, totaled $596,068 compared with $592,236 for the year 1948. After payment of $225,000 in dividends on 180,000 shares of outstanding common stock, a net addition of $344,068 was made to capital.

The bank's surplus account was increased from three million to $3,200,000; undivided profits increased from $693,586 to $837,655 and total capital was $5,637,656 on December 31, 1949.

Saving and time depositors had $37,392,700 in the First National Bank when the year ended, Belcher said, which is indicative of the backlog of consumer buying power which is available to our customers. During 1950, these depositors will receive 1 1/2% interest compared with 1% last year. In terms of benefit to customers this increase will result in the payment of approximately $160,000 in additional credits during 1950.

Despite reductions in the interest rates charged for financing both new and used automobiles and other savings which were effected for the benefit of customers, Belcher said that the net earnings amounted to about 10% of which approximately 5.2% based on the average 1949 market value of the stock, was paid to the stockholders.

WHEN THE CHIPS ARE Down...

When you were in uniform, you heard a lot of chaps say, "After me—you come first." But somehow, when the chips were down, these Sad Sacks turned out to be pretty good feds. You found out then it was more like "one for all and all for one."

Well, that's what's known as "comradeship"—the kind you find in the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

That "all for one" spirit is pretty important to you as a civilian too. In the V.F.W., it means friends—the kind who like to work together for the general good of all concerned and not just for their own selfish advantages.

Once you become an active member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, you will be the first to agree that—

"THE V.F.W. IS A GOOD OUTFIT"

Forward Club

The Garden Section will present a most interesting program on Saturday evening, January 21, when two films "Rose Culture and All Its Phases," and "The Mystery of Plant Life" will be shown at 7:30 at the clubhouse. Admission is free and the public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. R. L. Seder is the Section chairman and the hostesses will be Mrs. E. D. Sneed, Mrs. L. D. Newton and Mrs. A. P. Schnell.

An investigating committee to present a long range program for the clubhouse held its second meeting Monday at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Steven Westover. This committee is studying the most efficient plans for remodeling and after another meeting expects to be able to present recommendations to the Board of Directors.

Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds

The Camp Fire and Blue Bird Leaders Organization will meet today (Thursday), in the home of Mrs. Joe Young, 7533 Cuyamaca drive, at 1:30. Further assignments of hours at the child care center for the Mass Chest X-Ray, Friday and Saturday, will be made. Mrs. Herman Carpenter, is chairman of the committee for child care.

The Ot Yo Kwa group of Camp Fire Girls, with their leader, Mrs. Genevieve Porter, will help with the Mass X-Ray, Friday, instead of their regular meeting. The girls participating are Francis and Helen Whiting, Florence Porter, Rosemary Blalock, Joyce Herbert and Dona Schaffer.

The Gay and Happy Blue Birds with their leader, Mrs. Mrs. Lyle Everett and Mrs. F. R. Faucher, made a tour of the Ray Made Ceramic Shop, Wednesday. They are also working on a play to learn the fundamentals of drama.

The Monterey Heights Happy Hour Blue Birds played games, told stories and sang songs at their meeting in the leader's home, Mrs. Homer Blalock, 1781 Dupont drive.

The Happy Hour Blue Birds under the direction of Mrs. W. Silenack, brought their scrap books up to date. Stories were made of the stories.

The We Ya Nah group of Camp Fire Girls held a song session to learn new songs. Mrs. Sidney Close attended the meeting and played the piano for the singing.

The I Yo Pta group of Camp Fire Girls held a ceremony for the installation of new officers: Patricia Pfister, president; Jena Dumford, vice-president; Mary Catherine McArthur, secretary; Janet Willard, treasurer; and Joyce Dumford, historian. Retiring officers were awarded Citizenship honors. The following girls with their leader Mrs. Joe Young will help Saturday at the Mass X-Ray, Jean and Joyce Dunford, Linda Young, Nancy Stevens, Jean and Dona Lee, Mary Catherine McArthur, Patricia Pfister, Naomi Coyne, Judy Nelson, Helen Frey and Charollet Cochow.

The We Yen Nah Group of Camp Fire Girls with their leader, Mrs. Ralph Nelson, will help with the Mass Chest X-Ray Saturday. Assisting will be Loretta Bell, Alice Cozart, Elaine Marshall, Sally Glenda and Barbara Hentigan.

Girl Scouts And Brownie News

A Girl Scout Leadership training class will be held at La Mesa Methodist Church, on Palm avenue, beginning today (Thursday) from 12:30 to 3:30; January 19, 9:30 to 12:30; January 24, 12:30 to 3:30. Lucile Young is trainer for this course and Mrs. Stanley Roberts, training committee chairman. Anyone interested in this class call Mrs. John Kish, H-6-2180.

A meeting of the Field committee of District 3 was held in the home of the chairman, Mrs. Otto Seelitz, 9024 Madison street, La Mesa, at 1 p.m. Wednesday. Plans for an established camp stamp saving plan were discussed by the Neighborhood chairmen attending. Mrs. John Kish represented Lemon Grove at the meeting.

Members of the Girl Scout Neighborhood Club made a canvas of the Lemon Grove area for the Mass Chest X-Ray survey.

Mrs. Orpha Stevens has taken the leadership of Troop 2, with Mrs. John Kish as co-leader.

Troop 32 elected as officers: Sandra Perkins, president; Mary Conlee, treasurer; Patsy Eagles, secretary. The girls are now working on their needlecraft badges, making sewing baskets and working for their Games badge. Patsy Eagles furnished a huge bag of popcorn for the last meeting.

Troop 69 worked on Good Grooming badges. They will have a fashion show next Wednesday at the Vista La Mesa Christian Church.

Troop 79 worked on block printing designs for greeting cards.

Members of Troop 136 have completed cooking badges and are starting to make school bags for European children.

Troop 307 elected the following officers: Suzanne Mercer, president; Elaine Foster, vice-president; Peggy Moore, treasurer; Claudette Hagen, secretary. The girls are making plaster of paris figurines. Two committee members, Mrs. Albert Mawson and Mrs. J. Linden, were present at the meeting. The girls planted geranium cuttings.

The Troop under the leadership of Mrs. Roy Tormondsen, elected as officers: Judy Achilles, president; Beverly Svalstad, vice-president; Elvera Setelos, secretary and Margie Lu Bennett, treasurer.

Troop 381 elected as officers: Janet Fuller, president; Lana Cole, treasurer and Norma Lee Dennison, secretary.

Troop 375 met at the home of the co-leader, Mrs. J. C. Nugent, 2159 El Dorado drive, last Thursday. A nice thank you note was received from the Nazareth Home for Children for the Christmas stockings and gifts made by the girls.

Troop 96 had an informal meeting at which games were played. Plans are being made for future work on Tenderfoot requirements, so the girls will be ready to fly up in June.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET So Wilson Held Up the War For Fast Shorthand Lesson

By BILLY ROSE

During the closing days of World War I, I took the President of the United States out of play for 15 minutes. I did it with my little shorthand pencil.

At the time, I was working for the War Industries Board in Washington as a stenographer, and running out to get chocolate sodas for Mr. Baruch, its chairman.

A few days before the Armistice, a Board executive handed me a letter and told me to deliver it to the proper party. The proper party was Woodrow Wilson.

The White House that day was a jumble of senators, Cabinet members, ambassadors and important brass. News of the Armistice was expected any hour, and the tension was like the last few seconds of the Dempsey-Firpo fight.

I handed the letter to one of Mr. Wilson's secretaries, and was asked to wait in case of a reply. A few minutes later the secretary returned, looking puzzled.

"The President would like to see you," he said.

I got trembly inside. I was pushing 18 at the time—fresh out of the East Side, and also plain fresh. But my dealings with Presidents had been limited to the one I had seen on dollar bills.

Mr. Wilson smiled when he saw me. "I understand you're quite a shorthand writer," was his greeting.

MY TREMBLES vanished. I knew the President was a shorthand writer of sorts—the tachygraph magazines were always bragging about it. "I hear you're pretty good yourself, Mr. President," I blurted out.

"Mr. Wilson blushed prettily. 'I don't get much chance to practice these days,' he said, like a flustered man apologizing for a six-inch front. 'Mr. Baruch tells me you can write 200 words a minute. I wonder if you'd give me a little demonstration.'"

He handed me a pad and a pencil, and picked up a New York newspaper on his desk. Then, in his clipped, precise speech, he read one of the editorials at about 150 words a minute. When he had finished, the President said, "Now let's hear you read it back."

I walked out of the White House and floated back to my office via the rooftops. I had no sooner gotten to my desk than the phone rang. "Mr. Baruch wants to see you," said his secretary.

"Pretty good for Delancey street," I said to myself as I walked down the hall. "Woodrow Wilson and Bernie Baruch in one hour."

The girl in Mr. Baruch's office looked up at I bounced in.

"The boss wants you to get him a chocolate soda," she said.

their own campuses, and to catch the inspiration provided by national Disciples' leaders, such as John E. McCaw, Student Work Director, Prof. Stringfellow, Bible Instructor at Drake, and Perry Gresham, outstanding minister.

Miss Potter and Mr. Boddy gave a resume of the Conference at the Morning Worship service in the VLM Christian Church last Sunday.

Mr. Boddy is the president of the Young Adult Fellowship in his own church, and Miss Potter is president of the county C.Y.F. besides active in her own local church and DSF on State campus.
